

Dr. Kamna Vimal Sharma

Assistant Professor,
Department of Sanskrit
Daulat Ram College
University of Delhi

Love for the Sanskrit Language, passion for guiding the youth of today's India to commit and dedicate themselves for the service of the nation, instilling in them the sense of pride for being the descendants of Vedic seers and faith in Vedic knowledge and wisdom have brought me to this field. I firmly believe that Sanskrit has the capacity to be the voice of the humanity and the whole world. To promote it in the materialistically inclined gen-next, it needs to be updated. Hence, it is far more impactful to teach ancient language like Sanskrit using contemporary audio-visual aids and interdisciplinary approach. Besides, Sanskrit is the root of all the languages of the world. Therefore, the foundation of Sanskrit can pave ways for learning other languages as well. My aim is to develop in students love for Sanskrit as an inherent trait and not as a passing phase.

With this aim to promote Sanskrit at every possible forum I have been organizing and participating in various seminars, conferences, workshops, FDPs and SDPs where students get introduced to the grandeur of the Sanskrit language and literature and thus feel proud of their cultural prosperity. By instilling in them the seeds of respect and appreciation for Sanskrit, I try to encourage students of various streams to stay connected to their origin and roots. I have been involved in researches asserting Sanskrit being reservoir to all the knowledge relevant for the contemporary world.

Summary

Recently I have been felicitated with Rashtriya Sahitya Shiromani Samman (2019). Awarded with three Certificates of Merit and Pratibha Puraskara for my academic excellence, I have been felicitated with the prestigious Sanskrit Samaradhaka Samman four times for my contribution in promotion of Sanskrit. Also, I have received Letter of Appreciation from ISH and Certificate of Appreciation from the Department of Sanskrit, University of Delhi. Academically bright, I have always been topper throughout my academic career. Over the span of about ten years of my teaching experience as an Assistant Professor, Department of Sanskrit, Daulat Ram College, University of Delhi, I have always been known as a prolific reader and author of high caliber. With two books published in the field of Sanskrit Grammar and Linguistics, I have presented more than 25 research papers at various national and International seminars and conferences. I have 24 research papers and articles published in national and international journals of high repute and have contributed two chapters for the edited books. I have been invited to deliver lectures as resource person at various forums. I have participated in 11 workshops, symposiums, FDPs etc. I have coordinated and organized about 20 national and international events and have also conducted many workshops. A life dedicated to the service of my country and Sanskrit, I have also performed all my administrative duties like being teacher In-charge of the department, Convener to many societies and Editor-in-Chief of the college magazine Pramila. I have also been the Editor of the Shreshtha, an annual publication of the Women Development Cell, DRC twice. Besides, I am also a member of various reputed literary bodies like WAVES (India), BORI (Pune) and DRPSECT (Vadodara).
