

Distribution of Quality Self-Care Products

Date: 25th February 2025

Objectives:

This initiative was designed to improve accessibility to health, hygiene, and personal care products for students, faculty, and staff, ensuring that self-care essentials are within reach for everyone.

Summary:

Pragati, the Women Development Cell of Daulat Ram College, joined forces with Right Side Story to distribute sanitary pads, razors, and other essential self-care products on campus. This collaborative effort aimed to make these vital products readily available to women and members of the college community. The event was an overwhelming success, with a large number of participants picking up their BYOB (Be Your Own Boss) bags, filled with high-quality hygiene products.

The turnout exceeded expectations, drawing not only students but also teachers and non-faculty staff, all eager to access the free self-care essentials.

In addition to providing practical support, the initiative also fostered greater awareness about the importance of hygiene and personal care. By addressing the need for such products, the event emphasized the significance of self-care and well-being within the college community.

Key Outcomes:

- The event successfully raised awareness about hygiene and self-care among students, faculty, and non-faculty members.
- It made essential and often costly self-care products easily accessible to all members of the college, ensuring everyone could prioritize their health and well-being.
