Course Outcomes – Program Outcomes (COPO) Mapping and Attainment

Daulat Ram College is a constituent college of the University of Delhi. Learning outcomes of each Program and Learning objectives and outcomes of each Course are designed rigorously by the Committee of Courses and Academic Council, duly approved by the executive council. The college has also published them on the college website department-wise. For example, the Psychology department has uploaded the requisite information regarding Program outcomes in its tab. The Program outcomes of each discipline approved by the Committee of Courses have been mapped by the course outcome of every course taught under each department.

The overall PO attainment comprises two components: direct attainment and indirect attainment. The direct attainment of Program Outcomes has been achieved by incorporating classroom teaching, results of internal assessments (tests and assignments), practicals, case studies, mentorship and counselling, seminars, moral and ethical evaluation assessments of students' contribution to society, workshops extracurricular activities, etc.

The indirect component of PO attainment is obtained by exit feedback of students, the evaluation based on students' achievements both academic and professional achievements, placement, internships, and admission in higher education institutions.
